notified Sheriff Jarrett that he would accept the position of chief of detectives, offered to him a few days ago by the head of Honolulu's police department.

Mr. McDuffie will not take hold right away, but will wait until a suitable man can be found to take his place with the Hawaiian Dredging Company. This may be three days hence, or it may be two weeks. There is no great hurry about the matter, as the detective department is being very efficienty managed by Deputy Sheriff Charles Rose, although Rose has his hands nearly full with the duties of his own of-

Mr. McDuffie is at present an inspector on the dredge that is now at work at Pearl Harbor. He has been with the Dillingham company for several months and has given entire satisfaction. The company is very reluctant to lose him.

Waialua was the scene of the Sunday activities of License Inspector W. P. Fennell and as a result Liung Dai is n the cooler awaiting a charge of selling the cup that cheers without legal permission.

This is Linng Dai's second arrest on the same charge and he takes to it just like a duck to water. He knows he routine and the red tape and the court procedure and is looking forward to his next trial with some curiosity and much anxiety.

In company with Deputy Sheriff Cox, Fennell raided the store of Ah Chew Brothers and there gathered in Liung Dai. There was no attempt to conceal he fact that jags were being accumdated at his place, for it was to all apearances, a regular saloon, with the nen loafing around and the proper odors prevalent. As it is said some of the men have admitted that they purchased liquor in the place there is not much chance that Liung Dai will

CELTIC CHIEF IS FAST ON THE REEF

(Continued from Page One.) easionally touched bottom. There was a heavy swell setting in from the south, but near the reef it shortened and was short enough to be not very dangerous to so large a vessel.

Shortly before sunrise a light breeze orang up from the land and an atempt was made to work her off with sail, but the force of the swells more than counteracted the light breeze and the attempt was a failure.

Launch Tries to Hold Her.

Early vesterday morning the Young Brothers' launch went out and took a warp over the stern of the ship and, by putting on full power, was able to revent her from sliding much further But, by this time the tide had allen and with a few lurches the big vessel forced her way into the coral and finally settled into her impromptu eradle. Her bow was affoat and her stern, too, but her midship section was firmly embedded.

from the vessel. The Manna Kea dragged directly aft, while the Mikahala took a line from just forward of the poop on the starboard side, so as to swing her round a trifle. The Matson tug Intrepid took a third line in between the two larger steamers,

A Lively Swell,

The swell was rolling in pretty lively, and when it was decided to get some of the cargo out of her, the Ka Moi and the old Hawaiian flagship, the Kaimiloa, now converted into a barge, were warped alongside. The swells made it pretty bad for the smaller vessels, as they jumped up and down like fleas. The crew stood by to unload, and the crews on the schooner and barge stood by to take hold every time a swell shot them up on a level with the ship's bulwarks.

This process was slow, and by dark he vessel was not very much lightened. The steamers kept on tugging away under full speed ahead, but there was nothing gained, and at the time of writing the Celtie Chief is still stuck fast on the reef.

Arcona's Friendly Offer.

The German cruiser Arcona offered yesterday to help in getting the Britisher off, and if she does not come away this morning the offer will be accepted and the Arcona will join the other squad of pullers and endeavor to get the ship into deep water.

The Manna Ken is due to leave for Mani and Hilo today, and so is the valani, which took the Mikahala's place. The Inter-Island people will probably find other steamers to put on in their places, however. So long as the weather remains quiescent there is By eight o'clock, arrangements had little danger, but should a kona chance been made with the Inter-Island and to come up with any force it looks Matson people, so the Mauna Kea and very much as though it would be all Mikahala went out and took stern lines off with the Celtic Chief.
